PARENTS' DAY

Observed By the Sardis Consolidated School Last Wednesday.

On Wednesday of last week the Sardis Consolidated school observed Parents' Day in a very unique way.
Invitations were sent to the parents, who responded, bringing large and well filled baskets. On arriving they found the rooms decorated with designs appropriate to Thanksgiving, as well as maps, drawings, cuttings, rafts work and various other exhibits of each child in the school. In the forenoon the work was carried out as usual, giving the parents an opportunity of seeing their children at work.
At 12 o'clock a splendid repast, consisting of ham, chicken, salads, sandwiches, celery, pickles, pies, cakes, etc., was spread and the festive manner in which this food was prepared shows that the people of this district are skilled in the domestic science.

The afternoon was given over to two games of basketball, a potato race by the girls and a sack race by the boys, which furnished a great deal of amusement. County Superintendent Jessie O. Yancey was present and spoke on "Opportunities For Better Schools."

Misses King and Tuggle, the County Supervisors, and Mr. Boyd, the Corn Club agent, were also present.
At 4 o'clock every one departed for home highly commending the work of the teachers and pupils.

MAN SUDDENLY STRICKEN.

Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock Mr. R.
S. Remington, of Erlanger, Ky., was suddenly stricken with a severe attack of acute indigestion in the lobby of the Whitehall Hotel. Dr. J. H.
Samuel was summoned and after examining the stricken man ordered that he be sent to Haywood Hospital, where he received treatment that permitted him to resume his duties at the dam, where he is employed.

Henry Wallenstein, aged 32, of Mayville, and Edith Greenlee, aged 27, of Manchester, were granted license to wed at West Union, O., last week.

Mr. J. B. Kempel, of Manchester, was in Mayville Sunday.

Mr. W. R. Metcalf, of Millersburg, was in this city Sunday.

Al King and Jerry Herman Meet Death
In Silver Grove Yards
Saturday Night.

Saturday night about 12 o'clock Al.
King, aged 42, and Jerry Herman, aged 31, both of Covington, met their death in the C. & O. yards at Silver Grove, Ky., being run over by a freight train.

The men were employed as conductor and brakeman on a C. & O. freight train and at the time of the accident were checking up the cars of their train. They were standing on the track and the noise of their train drowned the rumbling of a cut of cars approaching them. They were knocked down and the wheels of the cars passed over Herman and cut off both legs and mashed him considerably.
King was dragged by the brake beam and all of his ribs were broken.

The men died before help could reach them.

King is survived by his wife and one son, about 15 years old. Herman is survived by his wife.

Failure to have proper lights on the cut of cars, it is said, was the cause of the accident.

Mrs. O. E. Carson, of Vanceburg, was shopping in this city Saturday.

Miss Louise Sproemberg is visiting friends in Cincinnati.

LOCAL OPTION ELECTION

To Be Held in Aberdeen On December 28—Council Grants Petition.

On Friday night the City Council of Aberdeen granted a petition presented by the dry forces of that city asking for a local option election and set the date for December 28.

Seventy-two names were signed to the petition and the vote on it resulted in a tie, three being for and three being against it. Mayor Purdon then cast the deciding vote. There were some objections raised by Member Louis Mutschelknaus, who voted in opposition to the petition, in regard to some of the names which appeared on the document, he claiming, it is said, they were not bona fide, but satisfactory evidence was introduced from the dry side to prove their legality.

Aberdeen has been in the list of wet towns since the adoption of the Home rule amendment in 1914, which repealed the Ross county option law under which Brown county had been dry for several years.

The election will be watched with interest from this side of the river in view of the uncertainty of the liquor situation here.

COLD STORAGE PRODUCTS.

Much is often said in derision of cold storage products. Epicures claim to be able to detect goods that have been subject to refrigeration, and complain of the flat taste. Too keen perceptions are sometimes uncomfortable.

In these days of high food prices, the cold storage plant is a godsend. One can only imagine where prices would have gone, had not these products come in to steady the market. People who are doing a good amount of physical labor are not quite so discriminating as to taste. Appetite is better than the best seasoning. There are many cold storage products that are to be detected only by the acute and penetrating taste.

Complaint is made of the high prices charged. Yet they always have to be well below the price of fresh goods. The methods of refrigeration have been steadily improving, and much of the feeling against them is only prejudice. As people become accustomed to using these goods it should tend to start more competition and keep down prices. In many localities farmers can get better returns for themselves and serve the public by erecting cold storage warehouses for the products of the district.

A snake, a liar, a gossip and a loud mouthed bully are among the most detestable abominations this world has ever produced—except the cuss who reads his home paper for five years and then refuses to pay.

If we could have Cupid as our commander-in-chief and use his darts in lieu of bullets, war would become a popular pastime and every female in this blessed town would be rushing off to enlist.

Some of these European people are ready to fight, bleed and die so that their kings may continue to have the right to trample the life out of them.

Beware of the convivial spirit. His attractiveness usually lies solely in his conviviality.

PROSPERITY AT LAST.

There is no longer any doubt of the return of prosperity. Our old friend is with us again. He is not here in great chunks, with bags full of shimmering gold and automobiles for everybody, but the old boy has brought a steady increase in the volume of business and a relaxation in the money markets, and a renewed confidence in business circles and in the agricultural districts.

Men of all classes are loosening their purse-strings, money is on a hunt for investment, employers are taking on more men and the wheels of industry are humming at a more rapid rate than for many months past.

Merchants report increased sales and easier collections, buyers are selecting better and more expensive goods and a spirit of relief and confidence is in evidence everywhere.

There are bright spots ahead for the future. Let's all steer for them and keep head and eyes to the front.

President Wilson is said to do quite good work writing out his own messages on the typewriter and he probably does not stop and run to the window when the hurdy gurdies play, either.

We can't all be rich, and we won't all be paupers, but we can have a deal of fun trotting along in the middle of the road.

Fun—Well Done

The Lesser of Two Evils.

"I'm in a difficulty, old chap," said Tom Thompson to a pal.

"What's the trouble?"

"I've two invitations for dinner on Saturday evening, and I can't make up my mind—"

"Which to accept?" interrupted his envious friend.

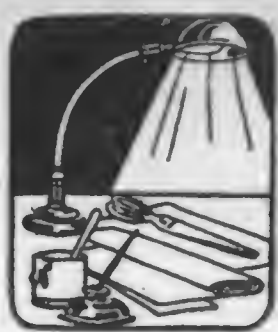

"No; which to refuse. At one house the daughter is learning to play the violin, and at the other the 9-year-old son recites Shakespeare!"

Munificence.

There was keen rivalry between Dibble and Drill—two seedsmen, who did everything they could think of to "cut down" each other.

One day Dibble put a large notice in his window saying: "With every plant we give a packet of seeds."

Drill was not to be outdone. A few minutes later he had a notice glaring in his window with the following inscription: "With every plant we give the earth."

EDITORIAL SIDELIGHTS

Shoe Box Lunches

It was not long ago that the picnic lunch was quite fashionable. However, popular among the common people, society considered it undignified.

If you ate out of a pasteboard box, instead of going to the best hotel in sight, it was felt you were meanly trying to economize.

That point of view seems to have gone by. The automobile has brought in the habit of roadside lunches. Even President Wilson and his bride-elect were reported a few days ago on the roadside of the Baltimore highway eating out of a basket.

Lunching out of a box on the train was once considered particularly bad form. Even if, wearied by the fatigues of travel, you noshed merely for a sandwich and a banana, you were supposed to pay $1 for a full course meal in the gilded dining car. Then you had to tip the waiter a quarter for services you did not want.

Today all the railroads recognize the vogue of the box luncheon habit, and have attractive hand-outs neatly put up for this purpose. It does help a lot to reduce the cost of traveling. Feeding a family on the move, at the high rates of transient and dining car service, seems to cost nearly as much as the mileage. The use of the thrifty luncheon box goes far to make many vacation trips possible.

As for the way-side lunch of the motor party, it has something of the charm of gypsy life. In the invigorating open air it tastes better than the hotel dinner, and with the good appetite gained out doors, it is quite as sustaining.

This is one of the many respects in which human life tends to become less conventional. People are tired of doing things merely to keep up appearances or to conform to the habits and purses of others. The picnic luncheon may look cluttery, but it is practical, and in keeping with the outing spirit. If it is good enough for the President, it is good enough for the rest of us.

ITEMS FROM ALL AROUND

SUN Price.

(Fairmount Outlook.)

G. M. Hareum, the laundry and dry cleaning man, went hunting last Thursday and killed five rabbits that cost him $1.15 apiece. He could have bought them for 75 cents, but he would not have had the $5 worth of fun.

Factory Booming.

(Three Stars.)

The Middleboro overall factory under the new management is booming, and is rushed to its capacity to fill orders. This concern has recently closed orders with some large jobbing houses that will take all its output.

Ferry Changes Hands.

(Benton Tribune-Democrat.)

R. B. Coffman, of Birmingham, was here Monday to close a deal with New Higgins, of Lyon county, for the sale of the ferry at Birmingham. This ferry will hereafter be operated by Lyon county owners instead of Marshall county people.

Better Than Turkey.

(Hopkinsville New Era.)

Colonel Charles F. Johnson drove his car out to a nearby pond yesterday morning. He had his rod jointed before he reached the water's edge and in a twinkling selected just the right colored fly from the book in his breast pocket. In little more than an hour later he had six bass, averaging one and one-quarter pounds each, in his creel. A dish of fish was the Thanksgiving turkey at Colonel Johnson's house last night.

Long Turkey Drive.

(Brookville Journal.)

R. B. Griffin, a poultry dealer of Kirksmansville, a thriving town in the northern corner of Christian and Todd counties, delivered a drove of between 400 and 500 turkeys to Fox Brothers at Hopkinsville Saturday morning. The turkeys made the trip on foot, and were on the road from Wednesday. The nights were spent in barns along the road. This is the first time a large drove of turkeys has ever been delivered in this section in such manner. But it is said the birds made the trip without trouble, and were easily driven, three men bringing them all the way.

A VOLCANO SPECIALIST.

Frank Alvord Perret, whose knowledge of volcanoes is probably unique in the world, is an American, a native of Hartford, Conn. After volcanic outbursts he has been able to accurately forecast their conduct for some time to come, and in this way his labors have been of inestimable value to residents of volcanic districts. He has visited and studied practically every volcano of note in the world. He was the first to reach Messina after the devastating earthquake in 1908. As an inventor he is widely known. In 1904 he took up volcanology and became honorary assistant to Prof. Matteucci in the royal observatory, Mt. Vesuvius, and was later decorated knight of the Italian crown.

Big Bobcat Caught

(Earlington Bee.)

A pack of hounds and a bobcat created a genuine commotion Tuesday night in the woods near Arnold mine. Galen and Charlie Burden were the hunters. The dogs treed and Charlie went up with his climbers. Then "bob" jumped out and right into the middle of the pack. It was the liveliest scrap since the primary. Jim Kilroy heard the fight but he had not lost any cat and he waited, having killed one of the varmints there himself not very long ago. Some of the hounds now realize whom they have met. Galen says he will soon be wearing "bob" in the form of fur cap.

Some Corn Grower.

(Flemingsburg Times-Democrat.)

The boys' corn clubs have done well, and have raised fine corn. But there are some boys of an older growth who have done well, and they should have credit. Matt W. Smith, of Allison, measured off a piece of ground eighty-three yards square, containing one acre and about 45-100. This he planted with the seed furnished by Demonstrator Clayton and gave it the cultivation prescribed by him. From this plot he cribbed 158 bushels of weighed corn, lacking five pounds. If you want to you can figure out how much that was per acre, but it was about 108 bushels to the acre. If that can be done on one acre why not on ten or twenty? And if this can be done, why should not such land be worth $200 or more per acre?

Snake Kills Hogs.

(Georgetown News.)

James W. Palmer shipped a load of fat hogs from here to the Cincinnati market last Thursday and when the car was unloaded at the latter place it was found that eight head of the hogs were dead. Upon examination of the car a large copperhead snake was found lying dead on the floor.

When Mr. Palmer loaded the car here it contained a lot of old bedding, and Mr. Palmer put in fresh bedding without removing what was already in the car, and the snake was evidently coiled up in the old bedding when the car was loaded. The hogs must have stirred the reptile from its hiding place and then it was a battle royal for possession, resulting in the snake killing eight head of the porkers before being conquered by the disturbers of its secluded abode.

Learning to Pray

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Superintendent of Men, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago

TEXT—Lord, teach us to pray.—Luke 11:1.

The disciples chanced one day to overhear the master's private devotions. So impressive was the scene, that when he ceased, they came to him, saying, "Lord, teach us to pray." Without a moment's hesitation, he gave them, first, what we might call "The Model Prayer," secondly, a striking illustration of the value of interesting prayer, and, thirdly, some teaching concerning the chief object of prayer, which is the holy spirit. Indeed, this eleventh chapter of Luke is the most comprehensive teaching on the subject of prayer that the Bible contains.

And where is the great teacher now? Seated at the right hand of God, where "He ever liveth to make intercession for us." And could our spirit-ears be opened, could we hear him as he pleads for us and for the lost world, would our eyes moisten with grow tender, and our voices tremble with trembling lips we too should say, "Lord, teach us how to pray."

We remember how Abraham prayed Lot out of Sodom, and Nehemiah prayed himself into the good graces of the king, and Elijah shut up the heavens for three years, and the friends of Peter prayed him out of prison; and all these were men of like passions with ourselves. Lord, teach us to pray. Yes, to "pray." We can recall many utterances which passed for prayer, but which we fear the master would not recognize as such—selfish prayers, thoughtless prayers, which had no aim or purpose, prayers from which we did not expect an answer, did not look for an answer, and would have been mightily surprised if an answer had come. And all of these have gone up to the mercy-seat with our names upon them, and there they lie in the archives of heaven unanswered, because unanswerable. Oh, friends, it is one thing to make a prayer, it is quite another thing to pray. Lord, teach us how to pray. How suggestive that phrase is, "Make a prayer!" As if a prayer could be made to order, whether there was any occasion for it or not! But to pray, to really talk with God, and bring things to pass, that is a privilege which angels might covet, and an art which is worthy of a lifetime of study.

The Chinese write their prayers on bits of paper and throw them into the air, hoping that they may be blown up to heaven. The Hindus have praying machines, and express their devotion by turning a crank. The followers of Mohammed five times a day fall upon their knees wherever they are at the hour of prayer, and call upon God.

How often we need to be taught! How often we ask for things which it were better for us not to have, while the things we need most are seldom mentioned. Paul was right when he said, "We know not what to pray for as we ought." How little we realize the willingness of God to answer prayer! Too often he is addressed as a capricious tyrant from whom blessing can be obtained only by persistent teasing. Instead of a loving father who lives and labors for his children's welfare, how little we perceive the scope of the promises! We see the surface meanings, perhaps, but the depths—Oh, the depths! How little we understand the deep things of God!

How little we understand the relation of prayer to Christian work. The common idea is that work is the main business of a Christian, and a little prayer is necessary to help the work along. Work is the strong bow which supplies the force to speed the arrow on its way, while prayer is the feather which tips the arrow, and helps guide it to its destined mark. Christ's idea is entirely different. In his conception prayer is the chief business of a Christian, with just enough work to make a channel through which the spiritual forces generated by prayer may find an outlet. Prayer is the bow which supplies the force, and work is the feather which guides the arrow towards its destination. "If ye shall ask—I will do it," he says. In other words, Christ is still doing the work which he "began to do" (Acts 1:1), and he invites us to help him by prayer.

Yes, we are ignorant, but thank God we can all learn. Jesus has opened a school of prayer in which, if we will, we may learn the divine art. And what a teacher! How patient, how long-suffering with dull scholars! And how much he knows about the subject! For eighteen hundred years this has been his constant occupation, and now he invites us to become his pupils, and offers to teach us all he knows. "All things that I have heard from my father, I have made known unto you" (John 15:15).

YOUNGEST MARINE IN WORLD.

Vallejo, Cal., December 3.—Although his parents didn't raise him to be a soldier, Frederic C. Bradman, Jr., of Mare Island, aged 7 years, has twice formally enlisted in the United States Marine Corps and is a corporal in his second "billet," to use the sea-soldier vernacular.

Corporal Bradman wears a service stripe and good conduct medal as a reward for excellent service during his first enlistment and also "sports" a sharpshooter's badge that was won by proxy. The youngest marine has had two years' foreign service in Cuba which will count as four years toward the thirty years necessary for retirement. And Corporal Bradman says he will re-enlist until he shall have served thirty years.

Major Frederic L. Bradman, U. S. M. C., father of the boy, is proud of the fact that the regularly enlisted marines have accepted his boy as a comrade and obey his orders as a corporal.

SAW HIS DUTY POINTED OUT STIRRING OF YOUNG MANHOOD

Advertisement of John Ware Gave Valuable Idea to the Traveling Salesman. Father's Idea of Teaching Little Son a Lesson Didn't Seem to Turn Out Just Right.

"While working through Pennsylvania recently I saw an advertisement that ought to bring relief to a few distressed souls," said the traveling salesman. "It headed the personal column and said:

"Be it hereby known to all my correspondents that I have this day destroyed all letters they would wish to be destroyed."

JOHN WARE. "That notice was so extraordinary that I stopped over for a late train and called on John Ware. He was a genial old man and willing to talk. He said he was a person to whom people voluntarily confided secrets; that many persons in haste of confidence had written letters to him which they no doubt afterward regretted having written.

"Sometimes they said, 'Destroy this,' sometimes they didn't. Anyhow, John Ware had kept most of those incriminating letters. But now that he was getting old he had seen what harm might result from those letters falling into strange and unscrupulous hands, and he had burned them and had taken that novel way of notifying his correspondents that they were safe.

"That talk with John Ware set me thinking. The first thing I did when I got back to New York was to burn a batch of letters."

Does Coffee Bother?

Anyone who has headaches, bilious attacks, heart flutter, or some other of these common ills, had better look to coffee drinking; and remember that there's one sure, easy way to be rid of coffee troubles--quit coffee--and

Use

INSTANT POSTUM

--the Pure Food-Drink

A level teaspoonful in a cup of boiling water makes a delicious drink--instantly. The rich flavor of Instant Postum, much like the mild Javas of the Old Dutch Cov't plantations, makes the change easy.

But more important, Instant Postum, made only of wheat and a bit of molasses is free from the drug, caffeine, in coffee, or any other harmful element. Old and young alike may drink as much as they desire with no bad "after effects."

Pure and delicious, Instant Postum costs less and tastes better than much of the coffee in general use.

No bother to prepare--no bother to health.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

Send a two-cent stamp to the Postum Cereal Co. Ltd., at Battle Creek, Mich., for a 5-cup sample of Instant Postum.

LATEST PARIS MODE

Fetching costume patterned after the Cossack's uniform. The long three-quarter coat is edged with astrakhan and has deep cuffs and a large collar of the same material. A charming turban of like material gives the wearer a chic air. The belt is a girdle affair, heavily embroidered, and is elaborately trimmed with silver.

LININGS TO BE BRILLIANT

With Fuller Skirts That Swing and Fly, Colored Silks Will Show Beneath Them.

Since the colors of the coming season are to be rather somber, coat linings will be brilliant in hue, so that there will be glimpses of bright blues, greens, violets or reds to contrast with the dull exterior fabrics. Silks of the soft, supple type of Chinese crepe, pussy-willow taffeta or luster satin will be employed as linings.

It is whispered that skirts will be full of silk, and a few models will even boast of dust ruffles, so that we will again hear the fascinating crackle of taffeta about milady's ankles. A glance at the petticoats will substantiate the truth of this rumor, for they are made of silk with a "body," and not of the limp, rustleless silks used for several years past. About the hem they measure yards and yards round, for they are flounced and ruffled and rucked in a truly feminine fashion.

They have grown noticeably longer, too, and this proclaims the fact that dress skirts will no longer flirt between the ankles and the knees. While a few designers continue to favor the short skirt, most of them have placed the stamp of their approval upon the ankle length skirt for walking and longer skirts for house wear.

LACES DAINTIER THAN EVER

Great in Variety, and Designers Have Spent Much Time in Perfecting Their Product.

Oriental laces, also val and chancilly, are made up in two or three long flounces to be worn under or over plain net skirts made very full. Metal-embroidered net flounces are used on dancing gowns under net merely edged with gold or silver. Exquisite dance frocks are made of alternate rows of lace and ribbon flounces, scantily gathered, the lace usually wider, but the ribbon fully eight inches wide.

Opalescent and metal-embroidered nets come in the full width of the net, and in flounces of various widths. Tulle and net-embroidered flounces very finely braided are now to be found among laces. Full ruffles of very fine lace are now used on each side of V-shaped necks, continuing as one to the waist line.

Silk nets are even more used than laces for flouncings, entire or combination waists, tunics, etc. Net and lace or chiffon form smart waists for handsome suits in black, with white, flesh, all-white and an ecru called shantung.

Powdered Pumice-Stone Bag.

A bag filled with powdered pumice stone is an excellent window cleaner. Make the bag of unbleached cotton cloth of a soft quality, not too firm. When finished, the bag is six inches wide and twelve inches long. Into this put about one-eighth of a pound of pumice stone. To prevent soiling this bag, it is slipped into a cheese-cloth case that can be removed and washed. No water is used on the window, but it is rubbed first with a piece of tissue paper, then polished with the bag.

Brocade Party Bags.

Charming bags for afternoon and evening are made of bright brocade, lined with white or plain-colored satin or silk, with a little line of ribbon flowers on the inside of the casing which holds the drawstrings. They are fitted with the usual complement of mirror and powder puff.

At 82, Sir William Crookes, the scientist, says he does not feel any different from what he was at 40. As to how to keep fit, here is his dictum: "A good deal of my own present feeling and position is due to the fact that I have always been working tolerably hard and always doing something I take a great interest in and am enthusiastic about. That, I think, keeps one's mind healthy and in a good state and tends to keep one going."

PUBLIC HIGHWAYS

BUILD ROADS IN MOUNTAINS

California Highway Commissioner Points Way for Opening of Arable Lands--Convicts to Be Used.

"If you will give us the convicts to build roads through the mountains there are 7,500,000 acres of arable land on the eastern plateau of the Sierras that can be opened for settlement," said Charles F. Stern, highway commissioner of California, in supporting the bill which passed the California legislature to permit prisoners to be employed in road building.

California prisoners have not been employed in this work other than in a small way around the prison, but the need of opening the mountain districts has started road building by the prisoners.

The act just passed is modeled after Colorado legislation, under which excellent results have been obtained. The highway department is authorized to make requisition upon the prison department for the number of convicts required, and is to organize and maintain the camps as well as supervise the road work. The prison department, however, retains control over the discipline of the prisoners, and, although the national committee on prisons and prison labor believes better results can be had under the West Virginia system, where the prison department maintains the camps, both the convicts and the state of California will assuredly benefit under the new legislation.

The men are to be worked under the honor system, and the prison department is empowered to grant additional good time allowance to convicts employed in this work, conditioned upon their loyal, obedient and efficient co-operation with the state.

To bring about the earlier completion of the state highways which will make the isolated regions accessible, the bill went into effect ninety days after the adjournment of the legislature.

Reporting the successful passage of the act to the national committee on prisons and prison labor, Mr. Stern writes: "We expect to use from 1,000 to 1,500 convicts on our mountain roads, and a year hence will be able to open up some of the most fertile lands in the state."

SEASONABLE DAINTIES.

Green peppers are so common and may be grown in any summer garden that it seems as if we might serve them often and learn to appreciate them for one of our most appetizing vegetables.

Peppers Filled With Cheese.--Take a cupful and a fourth of cream cheese, with a teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of onion juice, a wash of red pepper, chicken with cracked crumbs and fill the peppers. Bake a light brown and serve with tomato sauce.

Salsify Soup.--Scrape a dozen salsify roots and cut them in thin slices. Drop into boiling water and cook for an hour or until tender. Just before serving add an ounce of shredded codfish, two tablespoonfuls of butter, a pint of milk and a half cupful of cream. Season to taste and serve piping hot.

Salad of Lemon Jelly.--Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in a tablespoonful of cold water; then dissolve in two cupfuls of boiling water. Add a cupful of sugar, a half cupful of lemon juice, one green pepper cut in shreds, a third of a cupful of stuffed olives, sliced, a fourth of a cupful of almond meats, shredded. When the mixture begins to thicken it is time to add the vegetables and nuts. Mold in individual or large mold and serve on white leaves of lettuce with mayonnaise dressing.

Hot Cheese Sandwiches.--These are especially good to serve for a Sunday night supper. Take a cupful of snappy cheese, add a beaten egg, a tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce, salt and mustard to taste. Cream the cheese and add the seasoning. Cut the bread in rounds, a half-inch thick, spread with the mixture and place a slice of ham on each round of bread. Put into a hot oven and when the ham is done, serve at once with a green salad.

A Delicious Dessert.--Bake in gem pans little spiced fruit cakes, and keep them for this dish. Cut each cake in three slices and put them together with sweetened and flavored whipped cream. Served on a pretty plate covered with a paper doily there could be no deluder dish.

DON'T BE MISLED
Maysville Citizens Should Read and Heed This Advice

Kidney trouble is dangerous and often fatal. Don't experiment with something new and untried.

Use a tested kidney remedy. Begin with Doan's Kidney Pills. Used in kidney troubles 50 years. Recommended here and everywhere.

A Maysville citizen's statement forms convincing proof. It's local testimony--it can be investigated.

Henry Callenstein, blacksmith, Popular street, Maysville, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are the best of kidney medicines. I have used different kinds and no other has ever equalled this one. When my kidneys were out of order and I had pain in my back, I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. They stopped the pains and my kidneys became strong. The cure has been permanent."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy--get Doan's Kidney Pills--the same that cured Mr. Callenstein. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

LARGE SULPHUR DEPOSITS.

Sulphur deposits are found on White Island in the Bay of Plenty on the coast of the North island of New Zealand, about thirty miles from the mainland. This island, which covers about 600 acres, attains a height of 900 feet on one side and opens to the sea on the other. Its topography indicates an old crater and the boiling lake on the island, which is one of the awe-inspiring sights of New Zealand, is a further evidence of volcanism. After the New Zealand Sulphur Company had spent $100,000 in preparation for mining sulphur in this locality, a volcanic disturbance wrecked the camp and killed ten men.

The Tobacco Market Will Open

Tuesday, December 7

Now Open and Ready to Receive Tobacco

The Central, Home, Planters, Farmers and Independent Warehouses. Sold during the season 1914-15 22,110,000 pounds of tobacco at an average of $8.23 1/2. The Burley District averaged $7.21. The above houses sold $1.01 higher. The following markets, Ripley, Brooksville, Augusta, Flemingsburg, Vanceburg, Manchester, West Union and Georgetown, sold 15,047,000 pounds at an average of $7.40, ranging from $5.65 to $8.00. Had this tobacco been sold in the Central, Home, Planters, Farmers or Independent, the growers would have gotten $148,887.50 more money.

We intend that this year's record shall beat last. The above mentioned houses being under one management, will enable us to get you unloaded and sold the day you arrive. If you can't get into one, you can another. Your tobacco will be sorted and handled with equal care in any of our houses. And, remember, no officer or employee will be engaged in speculating in tobacco. But all their efforts and best judgment will be given to the growers in getting the top of the market. Come any time and we will guarantee polite and satisfactory treatment.

Hundreds of Customers Waiting For You

Do you know that in this town and farming community there are many families who buy a majority of their goods in Maysville, from some merchant or other?

Do you know that YOU might just as well have a large percentage of this? And do you know that this business is SPOT CASH because the people HAVE THE MONEY and are NOT AFRAID TO SPEND IT?

Do you know that to get this business you must FIRST REACH THE PEOPLE and then know WHAT YOU HAVE?

Do you know that there is no other paper published that reaches these people as thoroughly and as effectively and with as tight a grip as THE PUBLIC LEDGER does?

The buyers in this community are an intelligent class of people, and they insist on knowing something about the goods before they part with their money.

Your advertisement in THE LEDGER will appeal to them because it is THEIR OWN PAPER, and because they KNOW that we do not accept questionable advertisements at any price.

The holiday season, a harvest for merchants, is now on and our people will be buying in large quantities.

Because we feel that you are keen on getting a goodly slice of this business a representative of THE LEDGER will take the liberty of calling upon you within a few days, at a time he will illustrate to you more fully the advantages to be derived from placing a part of your holiday advertising before a class of people who buy liberally and have the wherewithal to pay.

Very truly yours,

SOME TOBACCO SALES.

(Mt. Olive Tribune-Democrat.) Miss Hattie McDowell last week sold to C. D. Ashbury twelve hogsheads of old tobacco, embracing several crops raised on her lands in this county and amounting to about 15,000 pounds. The price paid was 7 cents. This was probably the largest quantity of old tobacco remaining unsold in this county.

Dr. N. B. Chapman, of Falmouth, sold 50,000 pounds of low grade old tobacco to a Louisville party at a reported price of 5 1/2 cents. He had bought the tobacco on the Falmouth loose leaf markets the last two seasons.

A. Hitt sold a barn of good tobacco, about 5,000 pounds, to C. D. Ashbury, at 10 1/2 cents straight. Mr. Hitt raised his tobacco on his farm on the Mt. Olive and Hitt pike, known as the W. Bradley homestead.

NEW MILITARY MAP.

Washington, December 6.—A portable military and naval topographical map for use of air scouts in the field, and which will enable them to make quick and realistic reports of observations, has been invented by Gunner Sergeant Herman G. Stroschein, of the United States Marine Corps. Worm gearing, operated by telescopic thumb screws from the sides of the map, will create elevations and depressions thereon, showing terrain, contours of valleys, bodies of water, etc., and should make the aviator's report clear to the newest man in the operations. Stroschein claims it will be very light though it is, and it is thought by men that one of the new confronting aviators in speed and accuracy in observation—will have been the use of the marine sergeant.

Sergeant Stroschein is on headquarters of the United States Marine Corps in this city.

LONG RUSSELL YARDS ALMOST DONE.

Lengthening the tracks in O. yards at Russell, Ky., is being rapidly under the supervision of W. H. Sparks. A force of men is busy laying the additional tracks. The work will be completed by December 20. The tracks in the yards, when completed, will be able to accommodate a train of from 100 to 110 cars, while at present two tracks have to be used.

INDIAN FAMILIES ON COURIER.

Sunday afternoon when the steamer Courier stopped at this city the bystanders about the wharf were met with an odd sight. Among the passengers on the boat were several families of full-blooded South American Indians bound for Southern ports. A crew of a copper color with jet hair. They carried with them their pling outfit and drove several horses.

He was a generous, kind-hearted young man, respected and loved by all, dying triumphant in the love of God. He leaves a grief stricken father and mother, four brothers and two sisters, and a host of relatives and friends to mourn his loss. Peace be to his ashes.

HARVARD EXPERTS LEARN RETAIL GROCERY SECRETS.

Cambridge, Mass., December 6.—Experts at Harvard have discovered some new and very strange facts about retail grocery stores. Dr. Melvin T. Copeland, instructor in marketing, is investigating this field, which has never before been looked into carefully. Not only are the groceries poorly managed, but the public pays for the failures, the investigator finds. For, it is claimed, the money must be made up in some other way and the price of all goods is raised. Among other things, the college prober discovered:

That many stores are run at a loss, yet the proprietors don't know it. That partners turn profits into losses by taking home too much stock. That women running corner stores are not doomed to failure if they are careful.

That stock is sometimes so large that profits do not cover interest on the money tied up.

That storekeepers often entirely neglect management in order to sell goods over the counter.

MODERN DANCES

And Those of a Century Or More Ago Introduced In Tuesday Night Attraction At Opera House.

From time to time during the past theatrical season, stories have come to the newspapers regarding the successful engagement played by "When Dreams Come True," in New York, Chicago and Boston.

Our local theatergoers who have no doubt read these stories, will now have an opportunity of seeing this widely discussed musical comedy when it comes to the Washington Theater Tuesday night.

The play tells of the adventures of a wealthy New Yorker's spry young son who becomes involved with a French dancer while he is in Paris, has his allowance cut off by the irate parent, and thus is compelled to go home in the steerage. In the first cabin there is a young girl whom he sees and with whom he falls in love from afar, but of course can not meet

"The question of revenues is the most difficult problem the Democratic party must face when Congress meets," said Mr. Gillett. "Republicans have always claimed that lack of business efficiency was an inherent and inevitable defect in every Democratic administration. That theory has been abundantly illustrated since March 4, 1913.

"Dilatation, vacillation, change of plans and deficits have marked the Democratic fiscal policy. A constant excess of expenditures over receipts has been shown by Treasury statements. Furthermore, the sudden change in the form of statements adopted on the first of October, whether made for that purpose or not, had the effect of preventing easy comparisons and unfairly swelling the apparent Treasury balance.

"Now the President is going to recommend enormous appropriations for the army and navy. The serious problem will be how to pay them. In the past Republicans have been allowed no voice in these matters. Plans have been formulated by a Democratic subcommittee, endorsed by a Democratic caucus and passed by a Democratic majority kept solid by the pressure of party tyranny and administration patronage.

"Whether the same system will prevail in the coming session will depend, I suppose, upon the harmony in the Democratic ranks and the necessities of the administration. At all events I think the funds necessary for the program should be raised by taxation and not by the sale of bonds. The proposed expenditures for national defense should not be shifted on to our successors, but should be paid from current revenues.

"This involves cutting off our luxuries and pruning down our necessities on one hand and increasing our income on the other.

"It involves surveying the field from a business and not from a political or sectional viewpoint and that is where I fear Democratic failure. Unless the party can meet the situation with better business foresight and efficiency than it has so far displayed, the current drift toward the Republican party will become a landslide."

until both are on shore, where trouble accumulates for them. In the course of the play the young fellow finds himself simultaneously and unwillingly engaged to three or four females of varying ages and charms, and it is not until the last minute that he is free to marry his dream girl of the ocean liner.

The scenic investment of the play is elaborate to the last degree. One scene especially, the ball room, in the last act, represents the highest degree of the scenic painters' art. This scene is painted on silk and the woodwork is of Creusian walnut.

There are nearly a score of dancing numbers showing the latest developments of the modern dances in addition to a score of years back. The song number introduced in "When Dreams Come True" are all of the popular whistleable variety and were composed by Silvio Hein, who gained fame as the composer of some of Marie Cahill's most pronounced song hits.

The chorus, composed principally of pretty young girls who can sing, dance and wear gowns fetchingly is one of the features of the performance.

The gowning of the ladies of the company is exceptionally effective and shows the very latest designs in the newest New York fashions.

NATIONAL PREPAREDNESS

Much Needed—Democrats Devising Ways To Finance The Project.

Washington, December 6.—"National preparedness and national revenues are two problems that go hand in hand.

"The Democratic administration proposes the one and it has utterly failed to solve the other."

These are conclusions reached by Representative H. Gillett, of Massachusetts, ranking minority member of the appropriations committee. His statement has greater significance when it is remembered that for weeks Mr. Gillett has been in daily conference with both Democratic and Republican of the House in an effort to improve the present system of financing government appropriations.

"The question of revenues is the most difficult problem the Democratic party must face when Congress meets," said Mr. Gillett. "THE QUALITY GROCERS"

OLEO MOONSHINE CASE AGAIN UP

Columbus, O., December 6.—Dennis Kelly, Columbus capitalist, and his associates in the management of the Capital City Dairy Company, who were convicted of defrauding the United States of over a million dollars in internal revenue taxes on artificially colored oleomargarine, are expected to appear in the Federal District Court today, for the stay of sentence has expired. The men were given two years each in the penitentiary at Moundsville, W. Va., and were fined $1,000 each by Federal Judge Sater last September. Stay of sentence was granted until today to allow the drawing up of a bill of exceptions.

Kelly's fellow-officials of the dairy company are W. H. Eberst, general manager; M. Cleo Corbett, secretary, and W. H. Kelly, the Pittsburgh manager of the concern. The internal revenue department has received a letter of the claimed revenue through a civil suit against the offenders. Their plant was confiscated and sold.
